JOINT SERVICES

BACCALAUREATE SERMON SUNDAY AFTERNOON BY REV. COX.

AT THE NORMAL SCHOOL

To the Graduating Classes of the Normal and Maryville Conservatory of Music—"A Day of Expectation."

The joint baccalaureate service of the Maryville Conservatory of Music graduating class and the State Normal school graduating class was held in the Normal school auditorium Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. An audience of about four hundred people attended the exercises.

The program started promptly at 3 o'clock, when the audience united in singing the university hymn. After the announcements by President Ira Richardson, Rev. J. D. Randolph read the Scripture lesson, which was followed by a prayer by Rev. Robert L. Finch.

An octet composed of P. O. Landon, Rev. Gilbert S. Cox, Marie Jones, Izora Mutz, Ada Clayton, Janette Mutz, Harry Mutz and Orlo Quinn then sang the anthem, "Christian, the Morn Breaks Sweetly Over Thee," by Shelley.

Rev. G. S. Cox preached the sermon of the afternoon, taking as his text Romans 8-19—"For the earnest expectation of the creature waiteth for the manifestation of the sons of God."

Rev. Cox said in part:

"This is a day of expectation, and it is the expectation of the whole world that men and women reveal themselves in this life by becoming sons and daughters of God. This is the key to the unfolding of all of the world's treasures, for all the wealth of the remote wilds will remain hidden until the sons and daughters of God shall come, with pure hearts and ideals, and shall unfold them to the waiting world. The success of the United States government is due to Christianity, and that with every ship which goes out there is a missionary on it.

"The great music of the world is the production of men who were pure of heart and clean of mind, and the great masterpieces of art are due to the men who went on their knees to God before commencing their work.

"Christianity has abolished slavery, and Christianity will abolish the saloon. Eugenics is a great scientific movement, but simply be sons and daughters of God and you will benefit the race infinitely more than eugenics could possibly do.

"We sometimes say that we are bound by habits and by environment, but to sons and daughters of God these things are potent tools for the benefit and uplift of humanity.

"This then is the world's expectation of you graduates, "Be sons and daughters of God."

Miss Marie Jones then sang "The Lord is My Light," by Allitsen, and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Cox.

BOARD OF REGENTS IN SESSION.

Their Annual Meeting and Teachers Are to Be Selected for The Coming Year.

The board of regents of the Normal school is holding their annual meeting in Maryville today. At the morning session routine matters were disposed of and a number of bills allowed. The afternoon session opened at 1 o'clock and the teachers are to be selected, but at press time this afternoon none of them had been chosen.

The members of the board in attendance are State Superintendent of Schools W. P. Evans of Jefferson City, W. G. Hine of Savannah, T. D. Parr of Hamilton, Leo Phipps of Grant City and W. A. Blagg of this city.

THE CLASS PROGRAM.

Given This Morning at the Normal School Auditorium Largely Attended.

The annual class day program of the graduating class of the Normal school was given this morning in the school auditorium at 10:30 o'clock. A large audience of students and townspeople witnessed the exercises. The members of the board of regents of the school were in attendance.

This morning's program opened with an instrumental duet, "Spanish Dance," rendered by Elizabeth Sobbing and Grace DeMotte.

James Jones then gave the oration, "The Fountain of Virtue." Miss Jane Hinote, the president of the senior class, then presented the senior cane to Halley Ford, the president of the junior class. This has become an annual custom that each senior class add a narrow gold band to the cane with the year of the class inscribed on it.

Then after a reading, "The Heart of Old Hickory," by Gertrude Mason and a vocal solo by Glen Hotchkiss, the audience adjourned to the corridor in front of the assembly hall, where Miss Jane Hinote, in the name of the class, presented the frieze of the Parthenon and the busts of Milton and Shakespeare to the school.

W. A. Blagg, president of the board of regents, in a very feeling manner, accepted the gift for the school, and wished every graduate a life which should be full of good deeds, kind acts and services to others.

THE CLASS PLAY

By the Senior Class of the Normal School This Evening—The Story of the Play.

The senior class of the Normal will present the three-act comedy "A Scrap of Paper," in the Normal auditorium, tonight. This play is the masterpiece of the great French dramatist, Victorien Sardou, and is now being played by Ethel Barrymore and John Drew. The New York papers have dubbed their performance the dramatic event of the spring season.

The scene opens at the chateau of the Baron de la Glaciere, with the return from a three years' trip around the world of Prosper Couromont, a former lover of the baroness. For revenge, he proposes for the hand of her sister, Mathilde, who loves Anatole, the ward of Brisemauche, the scientist, whose old maid sister, Zenobie, is determined to keep Anatole uncontaminated from wordly ideas.

The baroness opposes Prospers' suit, but he gains possession of one of her letters, which she is afraid for her husband to see. Her friend Mademoiselle Suzanne arrives from Paris and tries to get the letter, but Prosper defies her.

Act 2 takes us to the room of Prosper in the home of Brisemouche. He is trying to hide the letter when Anatole arrives and challenges him to a duel, which they start to fight Japanese fashion. Then the ladies arrive to inspect the curiosities which Prosper has collected on his travels. When the others leave Suzanne stays behind to try to get the letter. Prosper gives her permission and leaves her. The baroness comes, and after a frantic search they discover the letter, but are interrupted by the arrival of the baron, whose suspicion has been aroused. His wife hides and Suzanne declares that she has loved Prosper, and that she and the baroness were opposing his marriage to Mathilde because she still loves him. The baron determines to help her and returns home. Prosper returns and is so touched by Suzanne's devotion to her friend that he decides to burn the letter, but drops it out of the window just as the baron and Brisemouche come up. He rushes out to get the letter but it has disappeared.

Act 3 takes place the same evening in the conservatory of the chateau. Brisemouche had picked up the letter to wrap a beetle in and had then stuck it in his gun. On returning he leaves the gun in the conservatory. In the meantime Anatole, who had been sent back to school, makes his escape, hides in the conservatory, and seeing the Scrap of Paper in the gun, uses it to write a love letter to Mathilde, which the maid, by mistake, gives to Zenobie. Prosper arrives and the baron, thinking he will help Suvanne, tells him the lady he deserted loves him still. Prosper, who thinks the baron is talking about his wife, is thunderstruck when he offers to effect at reconciliation. Suzanne rushes in and tells Prosper she loves him, whereupon Prosper, who has fallen in love with her, proposes, and as the baron is looking on she is forced to accept him. In the meantime Brisenmouche has the letter, on one side of which is the baron's letter, on the other Anatole's, and more complications are threatened, but Suzanne smoothes them all away.

Several members of the faculty and the boys of the class have made a complete set of scenery, which will add much to the presentation of the play. Miss Elizabeth Sobbing will take the part that Miss Clara Clymens was to have played.

G. A. R. Memorial Service.

The annual memorial services of Sedgwick post, G. A. R., and Woman's Relief Corps were held Sunday afternoon at the Baptist church. A fair crowd was in attendance. Rev. L. M. Hale of the Baptist church delivered the memorial address and music was furnished by the church choir.

Capt. Charles Hyslop, Mayor U. S. Wright and C. C. Hellmers will go to St. Louis Monday evening to attend the grand lodge meeting of the Knights Templar. They expect to return Thursday.

THE HESSIAN FLY

WHAT THE STATE COLLEGE SAYS IN REGARD TO IT.

WHAT IS TO BE DONE

With Badly Infested Wheat Fields and the Prospects for the Future —The Life of the Fly.

Leonard Haseman of the department of entomology of the state college of agriculture has written an interesting article in regard to the Hession fly situation, the life of the fly, the effect of the weather, what is to be done with badly infested fields, and the prospects for the future. As many of the wheat fields over Nodaway county are infested with the Hessian fly, the article will be of interest to the farmers and it is as follows:

The Hessian Fly Situation.

A few weeks ago the prospects for a bumper crop were never better, but just at present, in a number of the counties of northwest Missouri, conditions are far from hopeful. This is not only due to the destructive work of the Hessian fly, but also to the unusual dry weather, which has prevailed for the past few weeks in that region. The fly is abundant and its work is extremely injurious to the wheat, but with sufficient rains the work of the fly would not have been so destructive.

Life History.

The Hessian fly unfortunately matures three complete broods each year, which makes it all the more destructive. During the winter the pest is found in the resting stage which we call the flaxseed stage, down in the base of the young wheat plants, and with the first warm days of spring these brown cases give forth small black mosquita-like flies, which visit the wheat plants, deposting large numbers of eggs on the lower leaves. These eggs hatch and produce small maggots, which work their way down in between the leaves and the stalk, where they feed on the sap of the plant, weakening it, or in many cases completely killing it. These maggots mature in about one month and they are the ones which we now find in the wheat. The pest is very small and some mistake the young maggots for the eggs of the fly. Within the next week or two these full-fed maggots will have passed through the flaxseed stage again and come forth in the fly stage to lay the second crop of eggs These produce maggots which collect near the lower joints of the wheat plants. They are the ones which cause the wheat to lodge just about the time it begins to head out. They are full-fed at wheat cutting time and remain largely in the stubble through the summer, and in the fall between the middle of August and the first or second week in October they again give forth flies which visit the early sown wheat and lay eggs which produce the fall brood of maggots. That

ROBEY A CANDIDATE.

Files for Representative—Wm. Blackford and W. O. Garrett for Presiding Judge of County Court.

Arthur S. Robey, mayor of Maryville for two terms, filed Monday morning his declaration as a candidate for representative on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Robey had been urged to become a candidate for this position by his many friends over the county, and after due consideration decided he would enter the race. He is well fitted for the position he seeks, and it is predicted he will win with ease.

Wm. Blackford, who was from 1910 to 1912 a member of the county court, being judge from the north district, filed his declaration late Saturday afternoon for presiding judge of the county court, on the Democratic ticket. FOR A FULL TICKET

PROGRESSIVES FAVOR SUCH A ONE THIS YEAR.

NO FUSION WITH OTHERS

Several Mentioned as Candidates for This Party—Resolutions Adopted Are for Roosevelt.

At the meeting of the Pregressive party held Saturday afternoon it was decided to have a county ticket, and a committee of three, including John H. Sewell, chairman of the county committee, is to have charge of the work of getting out the ticket and see that the very best men of the party are candidates. If by June 1 several of the county offices have not been filed for on the Progressive ticket, this committee is to draft the candidates so as to file by June 5.

Several are being suggested as candidates on the Progressive ticket, and it is expected that a few of them will file within the next week. At the meeting Saturday afternoon the following were being urged to run:

John H. Sewell of Maryville for recorder; Fred P. Robinson of Maryville for prosecuting attorney; James Decker, formerly of Graham, for probate judge; E. C. Curfman or Paul Sisson of Maryville for representative; Ernest Boyer of Burlington Junction for presiding judge of county court; Madison Goodson of Ravenwood or C. R. Leeper of Graham for judge of the south district.

The resolution as adopted by the meeting are:

"We realize that the platform of our party will not be drawn until next September, but we feel that the Progressive party should always declare itself on every great issue before the people, and we take this opportunity of making our position clear on the several vital issues.

"The Progressive party of Missouri pledges itself again to work for and enact, if given the powers of government, the broad principles of humanitarianism set forth by our state and national platforms.

"We stand firmly and unalterably opposed to fusion or amalgamation of any form with either of the old political parties, and recommend and urge a full Progressive party ticket, not only for United States senator and congressional and state officers, but for county and township offices as well.

"We congratulate our great leader, Theodore Roosevelt, on his safe return from his remarkable trip of scientific and geographical exploration in South America, and the Progressive party of Missouri calls upon him again to lead us in the national campaign in 1916. We are for Roosevelt for president.

"We unequivocally indorse the county unit measure, whiih will be before the people for a referendum vote next November. We offer, as far as is consistent, the aid of our party organization in the campaign to place this great moral issue clearly before the people.

"The question of woman suffrage should go before the people of Missouri for a vote this November. We condemn the methods used by the Democratic and Republican parties in the last legislature of the state to keep this vital question from the people for their decision at the polls. As a party we heartily indorse and promise our active aid in this state to the movement to obtain the right to vote for women."

Mrs. J. E. Williams and children of Sugar City, Col., arrived Thursday night for an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Conrad, and sisters, Mrs. Lulu Blackman and Mrs. Ed Curfman.

ABOUT THE HESSIAN FLY

brood destroys much of the wheat crop in the fall, and it in turn matures by cold weather and then transforms to the flaxseed stage at the base of the plants for the winter.

Effect of Weather.

This is the normal cycle of the pest in Missouri; however, it varies from this during unusual climatic conditions. Some seasons one spring brood is lost and in other cases an additional summer brood may occur. The pest develops most rapidly when there is plenty of moisture. Dry weather always tends to retard its rate of development, however its injury is most noticeably associated with dry conditions. The past summer and winter have been unusually favorable for severe injury this year. The drowth of last summer held the pest in the resting stage in the stubble until the fall rains came, and as soon as the wheat was up the flies attacked it, laying their eggs in great numbers. Following a dry summer one is apt to be a little anxious and often sows wheat too early, consequently the fly has the best possible chance to attack it. Seemingly the flies came out unusually late last fall, for some fields sown in October show severe attack. The fall and winter were unusually mild, enabling a large per cent of the flaxseed forms to pass the winter successfully and come out in the spring. So far the spring conditions have not been especially unfavorable for the development of the fly. The early part of the spring there was sufficient rain throughout most of the wheat belt so that the wheat started off in good shape, but as soon as it started to turn dry the injury of the first spring brood of maggots began to show and the wheat stopped growing and turned yellow.

What it to Be Done.

It is difficult to say just what the outcome of the fly work will be, since we cannot predict weather conditions. With plenty of rain at once wheat will pick up wonderfully. If it should happen that one or two good heavy dashing rains come just as the flies are escaping from the flaxseed cases they would be largely destroyed and some fields, at least, would produce considerable wheat. With the continuance of the dry weather and the work of the fly a week or two more most of the badly infested wheat will be entirely beyond recovery. With these possibilities confronting the farmer he will probably do well in many cases to simply await developments yet another week or two and then if the weather does not help out he can still use the wheat for forage and the ground for some later crop. Conditions will vary on each farm. Some may wish to use the wheat ground at once for corn and others may have all the corn they can possibly handle, while in other cases there may be good stands of grass and clover in the wheat field, making plowing unadvisable. Since the pest will pass the summer in the resting condition in the stubble every effort should be made to dispose of the wheat stubble soon after wheat cutting time. The plowing under of the wheat now will get rid of the fly entirely, but where the wheat is cut either for forage or for grain the stubble will be left full of flies and should be plowed under in case there is not also a stand of grass or clover on the ground.

Prospects for Future.

The fly situation this year is a most unusual one. Never in the past has the pest proven so destructive to wheat this early in the season. The conditions are most discouraging, but since a similar occurrence may not again happen in many years there is no reason why the farmers of northwestern Missouri should not continue to raise wheat combining it in their regular crop rotation. It would perhaps be a good plan to abandon wheat, in large part at least, for one season. This is especially advisable in case the wheat stubble in each infested community is not completely destroyed and along with it the summer brood of flies. Under normal conditions a farmer can protect his crop from the fly by simply keeping in mind its breeding habits and destroying the stubble in the summer and sowing the wheat in the fall late enough to escape the fall swarm of flies. The writer is especially anxious to follow the work of the fly in the badly infested regions of the state this season. If each farmer will keep records of the work of the fly and send me the date on which the present crop was sown last fall and a statement of extent of injury in the fall, and at this time it will enable us to have on hand records which will be of great value to the farmers in future years when similar outbreaks are impending.

ATTENTION, MOTHERS!

If You Have or Know of a Delicate Child Read This Letter.

"My little daughter Louise, age 9 years, has always been delicate, anaemic, had no appetite and seemed listless, and we could not seem to find anything that would help her, until we were advised to give her Vinol. She started taking it six weeks ago and inside of two weeks she showed a marked improvement both in appetite, vim and looks. Being so well pleased with the results, I continued giving it to her, and words fail to express my gratitude, and faith in Vinol both as a blood maker and body builder. As my child was an anaemic for so long makes the reason all the stronger for me to recommend it to others in similar condition." Geo. E. Munro, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Vinol restores health and strength in conditions like this, because in a natural manner it increases the appetite, tones up the digestive organs, enriches the blood and strengthens every organ of the body.

Eery bottle of Vinol is guaranteed to give satisfaction or money refunded. Orear-Henry Drug Co., Maryville, Mo.—Advertisement.

WINS FROM CONCEPTION.

Normal Base Ball Team Victorious by a score of 12 to 3.

The Normal school base ball team added one more scalp to its belt Saturday when it defeated the Conception College team by a score of 12 to 3. The disparity of the score, however, does not indicate the type of ball which the teams played. The large score which the Normal team accumulated was due in a large measure to the two home runs which Adams batted out, the first time scoring two men besides himself and the second time scoring one man.

The Conception team comprises a bunch of game fighters, however, and it played ball up to the last minute, scoring one run in the ninth.

The Normal started the scoring in the first inning when Noblett's two-bagger started the hit-fest which hung up three tallies. Neither team scored in the second, but the Normal got four scores in the third and three in the fourth due to Adams slugging ability, while Conception got a goose egg in the third and scored one run in the forth. Errors on the part of the Normal scored two runs in the sixth, making a total of 12 runs and did not score again. Conception did not score again until the ninth when they got one run. Summary:

"Tuxedo is mild, cool and soothing—just the sort of tobacco I need. Tuxedo goes with me wherever I go."

GEO. RANDOLPH CHESTER

"Why shouldn't a man be willing to recommend a tobacco which gives as cool, sweet and satisfying a smoke as Tuxedo?"

J. N. MARCHAND
famous illustrator
"Fill my pipe with Tuxedo and I'm content. You can't beat Tuxedo for mildness and purity."

There is a Great Difference in Tobaccos

Tuxedo is the Mildest, Sweetest, Most Pleasant Smoke in the World, Because—

First—No one but the makers of Tuxedo is willing to spend the money necessary to buy the mildest, choicest, most thoroughly aged, selected Burley tobacco.

Second—No one but the makers of Tuxedo knows how to treat this Burley tobacco so that every bit of pleasantness and goodness remains in the tobacco and every bit of unpleasantness and harshness is taken out.

Tuxedo
The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Tuxedo was born in 1904. Its first imitator appeared two years later. Since then a host of imitations have been born, and are clamoring for your patronage.

No imitation is ever as good as the original. No amount of advertising, no amount of bluster and bluff, can ever make an imitation tobacco as good as Tuxedo.

If you are not a pipe smoker, you are denying yourself the greatest smoking pleasure known to man. One week of Tuxedo will give you more enjoyment than you have ever had—and at the end of the week your nerves will be better and your general health will have improved. Try Tuxedo this week!

MEDIATORS ARE RUSHING WORK

They Seek to Set Up Provisional Government in Mexico.

REALIZE CRISIS APPROACHING

Fear Condition of Chaos and Anarchy Would Result in Event of Collapse of Huerta Regime as Rebels Draw Near—Rely Upon United States.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 25.—In the hope of seeing a provisional government that the United States can recognize and be in Mexico City before the rebels seize control, the pan-American mediators are preparing for the crisis in their deliberations, which is expected this week.

After playing at fouls for two or three days, it has become evident that the hour for serious business has arrived. The Mexican delegates themselves felt this the more keenly, as the constitutionalists continued their victorious march toward the capital.

Should the Huerta government collapse, as the constitutionalist army approaches, it is realized that a condition of chaos and anarchy would result.

The mediators are working rapidly therefore in the hope of seeing a new provisional government established that may be given prompt recognition and support by the United States. The Mexican delegates believe a government set up by the rebels cannot last long if unrecognized by the United States and the world powers. They declare that a new revolution would be inevitable.

Relying Upon United States.

It is in the hope of averting such a contingency that they are relying upon the United States to enforce a strict embargo on the exportation of arms to all factions in Mexico.

Should Carranza still be in the field when an agreement is reached here it is the opinion of the mediators, it is said, that the influence the United States may be relied upon to bring the constitutionalists to terms.

From the conference here is expected to come a declaration of principles on what a provisional government will be based. This the United States and the world powers will be expected to recognize.

The mediators disclaim any intention of dictating the choice of a provisional president. Suggestions will be made by the Mexican delegates, but the final choice will be left to the United States.

The proceedings have already reached the stage at which several names have been advanced, but nothing definite had been decided.

At present, unless the constitutionalists are willing to suspend hostilities and enter unconditionally into mediation they will be given no further opportunity to do so.

DURAZZO QUIETS DOWN

Albanian Prince Is Again in His Palace, Guarded by Marines.

Durazzo, Albania, May 25.—Prince William of Albania, formerly prince of Weide, upon whom the rulership of Albania was conferred by the powers last February, is again in the palace of Durazzo, guarded by Italian marines.

Outside the city the insurgents, supporters of Essad Pasha, former minister of war, who a few days ago was deported, are threatening the existence of the new regime. Representatives of the insurgents demand of the international commission that they be allowed to confer with Prince William, who had fled from the town and taken refuge aboard an Italian cruiser.

Prince William, accompanied by the staff of the Italian admiral, came ashore and was followed by the Princess Sophie, but their children and suite were left aboard the cruiser.

Conditions in Durrazo are quiet, but preparations have been made for the re-embarking of the prince and princess should danger arise.

CONGRESS TO WORK NIGHTS

Nocturnal Sessions to Hurry Up Trust Legislation Planned.

ARE TO COMMENCE THIS WEEK

American Federation of Labor Insists Upon Greater Concessions From House Judiciary Subcommittee. Clayton Bill Has Many Provisions.

Washington, May 25.—Congress will begin night sessions this week in an effort to rush through the second of the administration's anti-trust measures.

The senate is also endeavoring to speed up legislation to insure an adjournment in July and Majority Leader Kern may order late sessions to end debate on the tolls repeal bill before Friday.

Leaders in congress admitted, however, that if the senate undertakes to put through anti-trust legislation of a comprehensive nature, adjournment can hardly be taken until late in the fall.

Senate leaders had expected to get through with one troublesome subject during the week, the bill to repeal the exemption clause of the Panama canal act. The death of Senator Bradley, however, and the fact that the senate adjourned today out of respect for his memory makes it probable that debate cannot be closed on the bill before late Friday. As many amendments and substitutes have been offered a vote on the bill itself probably cannot be taken until next week.

Has Many Provisions.

Meanwhile the house will take up the second of its anti-trust measures having put through the trade commission bill without a change. This bill drawn by Representative Clayton chairman of the judiciary committee contains many provisions for the further regulation of trusts.

It may be able to put the bill through by Saturday.

General debate on the Clayton bill probably will start tonight, and then the bill will come up for amendment under the rule permitting five-minute speeches on each paragraph. That is expected to occupy all the week.

The measure is threatened with a general attack from the Republican side. It carries provisions dealing with interlocking directorates, holding companies, price fixing and the issuance of labor rights and demands.

The American Federation of Labor is insisting upon stronger provisions to exempt labor unions from anti-trust prosecution and to liberalize injunction processes and contempt procedure. The judiciary subcommittee on trusts contends that the labor sections were approved by labor leaders when drawn.

Night sessions of the house will continue so long as the general debate is in progress on this and the succeeding measure, the bill to regulate issues of railroad stocks and bonds.

House leaders are much interested in President Wilson's declaration he will not be satisfied unless the whole anti-trust program goes through both houses. Some think the senate may be counted upon to pass the trade commission bill, possibly without amendment, and to go no further at this session, except possibly to pass the general dam bill, now privileged to come up any time in the house.

The dam bill, regulating water power on navigable rivers, would empower the federal government to make regulations of practices, rates and charges for water power when a state fails to perform that function and would provide that after fifty years the government may take over any water power project under the bill.

PLAN BUSY DAY FOR T. R.

Arrangements for Lecture at Washington Completed.

Washington, May 25.—Plans for Colonel Roosevelt's lecture tomorrow before the National Geographical society on his recent tour of exploration in Brazil were completed. They provide for eight hours' stay in the capital, into which will be crowded the colonel's lecture, his first glimpse of his African trophies in the National museum, a private dinner at a down town hotel with a few friends, for which all political significance is disclaimed by its managers, and an opportunity for anyone to ask him about his newly discovered river.

The colonel plans to arrive from New York at 3:20 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and depart at midnight. George K. Cherry, Leon E. Miller and Anthony Fiala, members of his staff on the Brazilian trip, will accompany the colonel. A special police escort will be detailed to accompany him while here.

Helen Morton Not Wedded to Bailey.

Chicago, May 25.—What was at first thought to be an elopement of Miss Helen Morton, daughter of Mark Morton and granddaughter of the late J. Sterling Morton, has been shown by the young woman's relatives to have been a trip east, resulting in her buying an old Virginia homestead adjoining that of Clay Bailey, a young man who recently was her guest at the Morton home in Lake Forest.

PICKARD UNDER ARREST

Detective Held at Kansas City and Unable to Furnish Bail.

Kansas City, May 25.—Frank Pickard, said to be a member of the Burns detective agency, was arrested here. He was unable to furnish $2,000 bail.

Pickard is charged with attempted bribery. The warrant was sworn to by John C. Lynch, a commissioner of Douglas county, Nebraska. Lynch alleges that Pickard attempted to give him $1,515 to recommend to the county board the installation of six coal savers and smoke consumers in county buildings.

Pickard's arrest follows that of T. F. Hansen, said to be a Burns agent, in Chicago. Hansen is charged with offering a $5,000 bribe to Robert Wolfe, boiler inspector of Omaha, for his recommendation to install a new heating system in the city hall, to cost $15,000. Wolfe was to split with James C. Dahlman, the cowboy mayor. Wolfe is said to have received $2,500 as a part payment, on the advice of the mayor and the prosecuting attorney. Word was received here than Hansen jumped a $5,000 bond in Chicago.

Skidmore Defeats Company F.

The Company F base ball team was defeated at Skidmore Sunday in a hard hitting game. The high wind was responsible for many of the errors made. The fielding feature was a running catch by Still and the batting feature was a home run by Mayes. Mayes failed to touch first and was called back, but completed the circuit before the ball was thrown in. The Company F line-up follows: Risser, first base; Mayes, second base; Still, third base; Palmer, shortstop; McKenzie, left field; Liston, center field; Ledgerwood and Bailey, right field; Bramble, pitcher, Wilson, catcher. The score:

JOINT SERVICES

BACCALAUREATE SERMON SUNDAY AFTERNOON BY REV. COX.

AT THE NORMAL SCHOOL

To the Graduating Classes of the Normal and Maryville Conservatory of Music—"A Day of Expectation."

The joint baccalaureate service of the Maryville Conservatory of Music graduating class and the State Normal school graduating class was held in the Normal school auditorium Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. An audience of about four hundred people attended the exercises.

The program started promptly at 3 o'clock, when the audience united in singing the university hymn. After the announcements by President Ira Richardson, Rev. J. D. Randolph read the Scripture lesson, which was followed by a prayer by Rev. Robert L. Finch.

An octet composed of P. O. Landon, Rev. Gilbert S. Cox, Marie Jones, Izora Mutz, Ada Clayton, Janette Mutz, Harry Mutz and Orlo Quinn then sang the anthem, "Christian, the Morn Breaks Sweetly Over Thee," by Shelley.

Rev. G. S. Cox preached the sermon of the afternoon, taking as his text Romans 8-19—"For the earnest expectation of the creature waiteth for the manifestation of the sons of God."

Rev. Cox said in part:

"This is a day of expectation, and it is the expectation of the whole world that men and women reveal themselves in this life by becoming sons and daughters of God. This is the key to the unfolding of all of the world's treasures, for all the wealth of the remote wilds will remain hidden until the sons and daughters of God shall come, with pure hearts and ideals, and shall unfold them to the waiting world. The success of the United States government is due to Christianity, and that with every ship which goes out there is a missionary on it.

"The great music of the world is the production of men who were pure of heart and clean of mind, and the great masterpieces of art are due to the men who went on their knees to God before commencing their work.

"Christianity has abolished slavery, and Christianity will abolish the saloon. Eugenics is a great scientific movement, but simply be sons and daughters of God and you will benefit the race infinitely more than eugenics could possibly do.

"We sometimes say that we are bound by habits and by environment, but to sons and daughters of God these things are potent tools for the benefit and uplift of humanity.

"This then is the world's expectation of you graduates, "Be sons and daughters of God."

Miss Marie Jones then sang "The Lord is My Light," by Allitsen, and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Cox.

BOARD OF REGENTS IN SESSION.

Their Annual Meeting and Teachers Are to Be Selected for The Coming Year.

The board of regents of the Normal school is holding their annual meeting in Maryville today. At the morning session routine matters were disposed of and a number of bills allowed. The afternoon session opened at 1 o'clock and the teachers are to be selected, but at press time this afternoon none of them had been chosen.

The members of the board in attendance are State Superintendent of Schools W. P. Evans of Jefferson City, W. G. Hine of Savannah, T. D. Parr of Hamilton, Leo Phipps of Grant City and W. A. Blagg of this city.

THE CLASS PROGRAM.

Given This Morning at the Normal School Auditorium Largely Attended.

The annual class day program of the graduating class of the Normal school was given this morning in the school auditorium at 10:30 o'clock. A large audience of students and townspeople witnessed the exercises. The members of the board of regents of the school were in attendance.

This morning's program opened with an instrumental duet, "Spanish Dance," rendered by Elizabeth Sobbing and Grace DeMotte.

James Jones then gave the oration, "The Fountain of Virtue." Miss Jane Hinote, the president of the senior class, then presented the senior cane to Halley Ford, the president of the junior class. This has become an annual custom that each senior class add a narrow gold band to the cane with the year of the class inscribed on it.

Then after a reading, "The Heart of Old Hickory," by Gertrude Mason and a vocal solo by Glen Hotchkiss, the audience adjourned to the corridor in front of the assembly hall, where Miss Jane Hinote, in the name of the class, presented the frieze of the Parthenon and the busts of Milton and Shakespeare to the school.

W. A. Blagg, president of the board of regents, in a very feeling manner, accepted the gift for the school, and wished every graduate a life which should be full of good deeds, kind acts and services to others.

THE CLASS PLAY

By the Senior Class of the Normal School This Evening—The Story of the Play.

The senior class of the Normal will present the three-act comedy "A Scrap of Paper," in the Normal auditorium, tonight. This play is the masterpiece of the great French dramatist, Victorien Sardou, and is now being played by Ethel Barrymore and John Drew. The New York papers have dubbed their performance the dramatic event of the spring season.

The scene opens at the chateau of the Baron de la Glaciere, with the return from a three years' trip around the world of Prosper Couromont, a former lover of the baroness. For revenge, he proposes for the hand of her sister, Mathilde, who loves Anatole, the ward of Brisemauche, the scientist, whose old maid sister, Zenobie, is determined to keep Anatole uncontaminated from wordly ideas.

The baroness opposes Prospers' suit, but he gains possession of one of her letters, which she is afraid for her husband to see. Her friend Mademoiselle Suzanne arrives from Paris and tries to get the letter, but Prosper defies her.

Act 2 takes us to the room of Prosper in the home of Brisemouche. He is trying to hide the letter when Anatole arrives and challenges him to a duel, which they start to fight Japanese fashion. Then the ladies arrive to inspect the curiosities which Prosper has collected on his travels. When the others leave Suzanne stays behind to try to get the letter. Prosper gives her permission and leaves her. The baroness comes, and after a frantic search they discover the letter, but are interrupted by the arrival of the baron, whose suspicion has been aroused. His wife hides and Suzanne declares that she has loved Prosper, and that she and the baroness were opposing his marriage to Mathilde because she still loves him. The baron determines to help her and returns home. Prosper returns and is so touched by Suzanne's devotion to her friend that he decides to burn the letter, but drops it out of the window just as the baron and Brisemouche come up. He rushes out to get the letter but it has disappeared.

Act 3 takes place the same evening in the conservatory of the chateau. Brisemouche had picked up the letter to wrap a beetle in and had then stuck it in his gun. On returning he leaves the gun in the conservatory. In the meantime Anatole, who had been sent back to school, makes his escape, hides in the conservatory, and seeing the Scrap of Paper in the gun, uses it to write a love letter to Mathilde, which the maid, by mistake, gives to Zenobie. Prosper arrives and the baron, thinking he will help Suvanne, tells him the lady he deserted loves him still. Prosper, who thinks the baron is talking about his wife, is thunderstruck when he offers to effect at reconciliation. Suzanne rushes in and tells Prosper she loves him, whereupon Prosper, who has fallen in love with her, proposes, and as the baron is looking on she is forced to accept him. In the meantime Brisenmouche has the letter, on one side of which is the baron's letter, on the other Anatole's, and more complications are threatened, but Suzanne smoothes them all away.

Several members of the faculty and the boys of the class have made a complete set of scenery, which will add much to the presentation of the play. Miss Elizabeth Sobbing will take the part that Miss Clara Clymens was to have played.

G. A. R. Memorial Service.

The annual memorial services of Sedgwick post, G. A. R., and Woman's Relief Corps were held Sunday afternoon at the Baptist church. A fair crowd was in attendance. Rev. L. M. Hale of the Baptist church delivered the memorial address and music was furnished by the church choir.

Capt. Charles Hyslop, Mayor U. S. Wright and C. C. Hellmers will go to St. Louis Monday evening to attend the grand lodge meeting of the Knights Templar. They expect to return Thursday.

THE HESSIAN FLY

WHAT THE STATE COLLEGE SAYS IN REGARD TO IT.

WHAT IS TO BE DONE

With Badly Infested Wheat Fields and the Prospects for the Future —The Life of the Fly.

Leonard Haseman of the department of entomology of the state college of agriculture has written an interesting article in regard to the Hession fly situation, the life of the fly, the effect of the weather, what is to be done with badly infested fields, and the prospects for the future. As many of the wheat fields over Nodaway county are infested with the Hessian fly, the article will be of interest to the farmers and it is as follows:

The Hessian Fly Situation.

A few weeks ago the prospects for a bumper crop were never better, but just at present, in a number of the counties of northwest Missouri, conditions are far from hopeful. This is not only due to the destructive work of the Hessian fly, but also to the unusual dry weather, which has prevailed for the past few weeks in that region. The fly is abundant and its work is extremely injurious to the wheat, but with sufficient rains the work of the fly would not have been so destructive.

Life History.

The Hessian fly unfortunately matures three complete broods each year, which makes it all the more destructive. During the winter the pest is found in the resting stage which we call the flaxseed stage, down in the base of the young wheat plants, and with the first warm days of spring these brown cases give forth small black mosquita-like flies, which visit the wheat plants, deposting large numbers of eggs on the lower leaves. These eggs hatch and produce small maggots, which work their way down in between the leaves and the stalk, where they feed on the sap of the plant, weakening it, or in many cases completely killing it. These maggots mature in about one month and they are the ones which we now find in the wheat. The pest is very small and some mistake the young maggots for the eggs of the fly. Within the next week or two these full-fed maggots will have passed through the flaxseed stage again and come forth in the fly stage to lay the second crop of eggs These produce maggots which collect near the lower joints of the wheat plants. They are the ones which cause the wheat to lodge just about the time it begins to head out. They are full-fed at wheat cutting time and remain largely in the stubble through the summer, and in the fall between the middle of August and the first or second week in October they again give forth flies which visit the early sown wheat and lay eggs which produce the fall brood of maggots. That

ROBEY A CANDIDATE.

Files for Representative—Wm. Blackford and W. O. Garrett for Presiding Judge of County Court.

Arthur S. Robey, mayor of Maryville for two terms, filed Monday morning his declaration as a candidate for representative on the Democratic ticket. FOR A FULL TICKET

PROGRESSIVES FAVOR SUCH A ONE THIS YEAR.

NO FUSION WITH OTHERS

Several Mentioned as Candidates for This Party—Resolutions Adopted Are for Roosevelt.

At the meeting of the Pregressive party held Saturday afternoon it was decided to have a county ticket, and a committee of three, including John H. Sewell, chairman of the county committee, is to have charge of the work of getting out the ticket and see that the very best men of the party are candidates. If by June 1 several of the county offices have not been filled for on the Progressive ticket, this committee is to draft the candidates so as to file by June 5.

Several are being suggested as candidates on the Progressive ticket, and it is expected that a few of them will file within the next week. At the meeting Saturday afternoon the following were being urged to run:

John H. Sewell of Maryville for recorder; Fred P. Robinson of Maryville for prosecuting attorney; James Decker, formerly of Graham, for probate judge; E. C. Curfman or Pau Sisson of Maryville for representative; Ernest Boyer of Burlington Junction for presiding judge of county court; Madison Goodson of Ravenwood or C. R. Leeper of Graham for judge of the south district.

The resolution as adopted by the meeting are:

"We realize that the platform of our party will not be drawn until next September, but we feel that the Progressive party should always declare itself on every great issue before the people, and we take this opportunity of making our position clear on the several vital issues.

"The Progressive party of Missouri pledges itself again to work for and enact, if given the powers of government, the broad principles of humanitarianism set forth by our state and national platforms.

"We stand firmly and unalterably opposed to fusion or amalgamation of any form with either of the old political parties, and recommend and urge a full Progressive party ticket, not only for United States senator and congressional and state officers, but for county and township offices as well.

"We congratulate our great leader, Theodore Roosevelt, on his safe return from his remarkable trip of scientific and geographical exploration in South America, and the Progressive party of Missouri calls upon him again to lead us in the national campaign in 1916. We are for Roosevelt for president.

"We unequivocally indorse the county unit measure, whiih will be before the people for a referendum vote next November. We offer, as far as is consistent, the aid of our party organization in the campaign to place this great moral issue clearly before the people.

"The question of woman suffrage should go before the people of Missouri for a vote this November. We condemn the methods used by the Democratic and Republican parties in the last legislature of the state to keep this vital question from the people for their decision at the polls. As a party we heartily indorse and promise our active aid in this state to the movement to obtain the right to vote for women."

Mrs. J. E. Williams and children of Sugar City, Col., arrived Thursday night for an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Conrad, and sisters, Mrs. Lulu Blackman and Mrs. Ed Curfman.

ABOUT THE HESSIAN FLY

brood destroys much of the wheat crop in the fall, and it in turn matures by cold weather and then transforms to the flaxseed stage at the base of the plants for the winter.

Effect of Weather.

This is the normal cycle of the pest in Missouri; however, it varies from this during unusual climatic conditions. Some seasons one spring brood is lost and in other cases an additional summer brood may occur. The pest develops most rapidly when there is plenty of moisture. Dry weather always tends to retard its rate of development, however its injury is most noticeably associated with dry conditions. The past summer and winter have been unusually favorable for severe injury this year. The drowth of last summer held the pest in the resting stage in the stubble until the fall rains came, and as soon as the wheat was up the flies attacked it, laying their eggs in great numbers. Following a dry summer one is apt to be a little anxious and often sows wheat too early, consequently the fly has the best possible chance to attack it. Seemingly the flies came out unusually late last fall, for some fields sown in October show severe attack. The fall and winter were unusually mild, enabling a large per cent of the flaxseed forms to pass the winter successfully and come out in the spring. So far the spring conditions have not been especially unfavorable for the development of the fly. The early part of the spring there was sufficient rain throughout most of the wheat belt so that the wheat started off in good shape, but as soon as it started to turn dry the injury of the first spring brood of maggots began to show and the wheat stopped growing and turned yellow.

What It to Be Done.

It is difficult to say just what the outcome of the fly work will be, since we cannot predict weather conditions. With plenty of rain at once wheat will pick up wonderfully. If it should happen that one or two good heavy dashing rains come just as the flies are escaping from the flaxseed cases they would be largely destroyed and some fields, at least, would produce considerable wheat. With the continuance of the dry weather and the work of the fly a week or two more most of the badly infested wheat will be entirely beyond recovery. With these possibilities confronting the farmer he will probably do well in many cases to simply await developments yet another week or two and then if the weather does not help out he can still use the wheat for forage and the ground for some later crop. Conditions will vary on each farm. Some may wish to use the wheat ground at once for corn and others may have all the corn they can possibly handle, while in other cases there may be good stands of grass and clover in the wheat field, making plowing unadvisable. Since the pest will pass the summer in the resting condition in the stubble every effort should be made to dispose of the wheat stubble soon after wheat cutting time. The plowing under of the wheat now will get rid of the fly entirely, but where the wheat is cut either for forage or for grain the stubble will be left full of flies and should be plowed under in case there is not also a stand of grass or clover on the ground.

Prospects for Future.

The fly situation this year is a most unusual one. Never in the past has the pest proven so destructive to wheat this early in the season. The conditions are most discouraging, but since a similar occurrence may not again happen in many years there is no reason why the farmers of northwestern Missouri should not continue to raise wheat combining it in their regular crop rotation. It would perhaps be a good plan to abandon wheat, in large part at least, for one season. This is especially advisable in case the wheat stubble in each infested community is not completely destroyed and along with it the summer brood of flies. Under normal conditions a farmer can protect his crop from the fly by simply keeping in mind its breeding habits and destroying the stubble in the summer and sowing the wheat in the fall late enough to escape the fall swarm of flies. The writer is especially anxious to follow the work of the fly in the badly infested regions of the state this season. If each farmer will keep records of the work of the fly and send me the date on which the present crop was sown last fall and a statement of extent of injury in the fall, and at this time it will enable us to have on hand records which will be of great value to the farmers in future years when similar outbreaks are impending.

ATTENTION, MOTHERS!

"My little daughter Louise, age 9 years, has always been delicate, anaemic, had no appetite and seemed listless, and we could not seem to find anything that would help her, until we were advised to give her Vinol. She started taking it six weeks ago and inside of two weeks she showed a marked improvement both in appetite, vim and looks. Being so well pleased with the results, I continued giving it to her, and words fail to express my gratitude, and faith in Vinol both as a blood maker and body builder. As my child was an anaemic for so long makes the reason all the stronger for me to recommend it to others in similar condition." Geo. E. Munro, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Vinol restores health and strength in conditions like this, because in a natural manner it increases the appetite, tones up the digestive organs, enriches the blood and strengthens every organ of the body.

Eery bottle of Vinol is guaranteed to give satisfaction or money refunded. Orear-Henry Drug Co., Maryville, Mo.—Advertisement.

WINS FROM CONCEPTION.

Normal Base Ball Team Victorious by a score of 12 to 3.

The Normal school base ball team added one more scalp to its belt Saturday when it defeated the Conception College team by a score of 12 to 3. The disparity of the score, however, does not indicate the type of ball which the teams played. The large score which the Normal team accumulated was due in a large measure to the two home runs which Adams batted out, the first time scoring two men besides himself and the second time scoring one man.

The Conception team comprises a bunch of game fighters, however, and it played ball up to the last minute, scoring one run in the ninth.

The Normal started the scoring in the first inning when Noblett's two-bagger started the hit-fest which hung up three tallies. Neither team scored in the second, but the Normal got four scores in the third and three in the fourth due to Adams slugging ability, while Conception got a goose egg in the third and scored one run in the forth. Errors on the part of the Normal scored two runs in the sixth, making a total of 12 runs and did not score again. Conception did not score again until the ninth when they got one run. Summary:

There is a Great Difference in Tobaccos

Tuxedo is the Mildest, Sweetest, Most Pleasant Smoke in the World, Because—

First—No one but the makers of Tuxedo is willing to spend the money necessary to buy the mildest, choicest, most thoroughly aged, selected Burley tobacco.

Second—No one but the makers of Tuxedo knows how to treat this Burley tobacco so that every bit of pleasantness and goodness remains in the tobacco and every bit of unpleasantness and harshness is taken out.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Tuxedo was born in 1904. Its first imitator appeared two years later. Since then a host of imitations have been born, and are clamoring for your patronage.

No imitation is ever as good as the original. No amount of advertising, no amount of bluster and bluff, can ever make an imitation tobacco as good as Tuxedo.

If you are not a pipe smoker, you are denying yourself the greatest smoking pleasure known to man. One week of Tuxedo will give you more enjoyment than you have ever had—and at the end of the week your nerves will be better and your general health will have improved. Try Tuxedo this week!

MEDIATORS ARE RUSHING WORK

They Seek to Set Up Provisional Government in Mexico.

REALIZE CRISIS APPROACHING

Fear Condition of Chaos and Anarchy Would Result in Event of Collapse of Huerta Regime as Rebels Draw Near—Rely Upon United States.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 25.—In the hope of seeing a provisional government that the United States can recognize and be in Mexico City before the rebels seize control, the pan-American mediators are preparing for the crisis in their deliberations, which is expected this week.

After playing at foils for two or three days, it has become evident that the hour for serious business has arrived. The Mexican delegates themselves felt this the more keenly, as the constitutionalists continued their victorious march toward the capital.

Should the Huerta government collapse, as the constitutionalist army approaches, it is realized that a condition of chaos and anarchy would result.

The mediators are working rapidly therefore in the hope of seeing a new provisional government established that may be given prompt recognition and support by the United States. The Mexican delegates believe a government set up by the rebels cannot last long if unrecognized by the United States and the world powers. They declare that a new revolution would be inevitable.

Relying Upon United States.

It is in the hope of averting such a contingency that they are relying upon the United States to enforce a strict embargo on the exportation of arms to all factions in Mexico.

Should Carranza still be in the field when an agreement is reached here it is the opinion of the mediators, it is said, that the influence the United States may be relied upon to bring the constitutionalists to terms.

From the conference here is expected to come a declaration of principles on what a provisional government will be based. This the United States and the world powers will be expected to recognize.

The mediators disclaim any intention of dictating the choice of a provisional president. Suggestions will be made by the Mexican delegates, but the final choice will be left to the United States.

The proceedings have already reached the stage at which several names have been advanced, but nothing definite had been decided.

At present, unless the constitutionalists are willing to suspend hostilities and enter unconditionally into mediation they will be given no further opportunity to do so.

DURAZZO QUIETS DOWN

Albanian Prince Is Again in His Palace, Guarded by Marines.

Durazzo, Albania, May 25.—Prince William of Albania, formerly prince of Weide, upon whom the rulership of Albania was conferred by the powers last February, is again in the palace of Durazzo, guarded by Italian marines.

Outside the city the insurgents, supporters of Essad Pasha, former minister of war, who a few days ago was deported, are threatening the existence of the new regime. Representatives of the insurgents demand of the international commission that they be allowed to confer with Prince William, who had fled from the town and taken refuge aboard an Italian cruiser.

Prince William, accompanied by the staff of the Italian admiral, came ashore and was followed by the Princess Sophie, but their children and suite were left aboard the cruiser.

Conditions in Durrazo are quiet, but preparations have been made for the re-embarking of the prince and princess should danger arise.

CONGRESS TO WORK NIGHTS

Nocturnal Sessions to Hurry Up Trust Legislation Planned.

ARE TO COMMENCE THIS WEEK

American Federation of Labor Insists Upon Greater Concessions From House Judiciary Subcommittee. Clayton Bill Has Many Provisions.

Washington, May 25.—Congress will begin night sessions this week in an effort to rush through the second of the administration's anti-trust measures.

The senate is also endeavoring to speed up legislation to insure an adjournment in July and Majority Leader Kern may order late sessions to end debate on the tolls repeal bill before Friday.

Leaders in congress admitted, however, that if the senate undertakes to put through anti-trust legislation of a comprehensive nature, adjournment can hardly be taken until late in the fall.

Senate leaders had expected to get through with one troublesome subject during the week, the bill to repeal the exemption clause of the Panama canal act. The death of Senator Bradley, however, and the fact that the senate adjourned today out of respect for his memory makes it probable that debate cannot be closed on the bill before late Friday. As many amendments and substitutes have been offered a vote on the bill itself probably cannot be taken until next week.

Has Many Provisions.

Meanwhile the house will take up the second of its anti-trust measures having put through the trade commission bill without a change. This bill drawn by Representative Clayton chairman of the judiciary committee contains many provisions for the further regulation of trusts.

It may be able to put the bill through by Saturday.

General debate on the Clayton bill probably will start tonight, and then the bill will come up for amendment under the rule permitting five-minute speeches on each paragraph. That is expected to occupy all the week.

The measure is threatened with a general attack from the Republican side. It carries provisions dealing with interlocking directorates, holding companies, price fixing and the issuance of labor rights and demands.

The American Federation of Labor is insisting upon stronger provisions to exempt labor unions from anti-trust prosecution and to liberalize injunction processes and contempt procedure. The judiciary subcommittee on trusts contends that the labor sections were approved by labor leaders when drawn.

Night sessions of the house will continue so long as the general debate is in progress on this and the succeeding measure, the bill to regulate issues of railroad stocks and bonds.

House leaders are much interested in President Wilson's declaration he will not be satisfied unless the whole anti-trust program goes through both houses. Some think the senate may be counted upon to pass the trade commission bill, possibly without amendment, and to go no further at this session, except possibly to pass the general dam bill, now privileged to come up any time in the house.

The dam bill, regulating water power on navigable rivers, would empower the federal government to make regulations of practices, rates and charges for water power when a state fails to perform that function and would provide that after fifty years the government may take over any water power project under the bill.

PLAN BUSY DAY FOR T. R.

Arrangements for Lecture at Washington Completed.

Washington, May 25.—Plans for Colonel Roosevelt's lecture tomorrow before the National Geographical society on his recent tour of exploration in Brazil were completed. They provide for eight hours' stay in the capital, into which will be crowded the colonel's lecture, his first glimpse of his African trophies in the National museum, a private dinner at a down town hotel with a few friends, for which all political significance is disclaimed by its managers, and an opportunity for anyone to ask him about his newly discovered river.

The colonel plans to arrive from New York at 3:20 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and depart at midnight. George K. Cherry, Leon E. Miller and Anthony Fiala, members of his staff on the Brazilian trip, will accompany the colonel. A special police escort will be detailed to accompany him while here.

Helen Morton Not Wedded to Bailey.

Chicago, May 25.—What was at first thought to be an elopement of Miss Helen Morton, daughter of Mark Morton and granddaughter of the late J. Sterling Morton, has been shown by the young woman's relatives to have been a trip east, resulting in her buying an old Virginia homestead adjoining that of Clay Bailey, a young man who recently was her guest at the Morton home in Lake Forest.

PICKARD UNDER ARREST

Detective Held at Kansas City and Unable to Furnish Bail.

Kansas City, May 25.—Frank Pickard, said to be a member of the Burns detective agency, was arrested here. He was unable to furnish $2,000 bail.

Pickard is charged with attempted bribery. The warrant was sworn to by John C. Lynch, a commissioner of Douglas county, Nebraska. Lynch alleges that Pickard attempted to give him $1,515 to recommend to the county board the installation of six coal savers and smoke consumers in county buildings.

Pickard's arrest follows that of T. F. Hansen, said to be a Burns agent, in Chicago. Hansen is charged with offering a $5,000 bribe to Robert Wolfe, boiler inspector of Omaha, for his recommendation to install a new heating system in the city hall, to cost $15,000. Wolfe was to split with James C. Dahlman, the cowboy mayor. Wolfe is said to have received $2,500 as a part payment, on the advice of the mayor and the prosecuting attorney. Word was received here than Hansen jumped a $5,000 bond in Chicago.

Skidmore Defeats Company F.

The Company F base ball team was defeated at Skidmore Sunday in a hard hitting game. The high wind was responsible for many of the errors made. The fielding feature was a running catch by Still and the batting feature was a home run by Mayes. Mayes failed to touch first and was called back, but completed the circuit before the ball was thrown in. The Company F line-up follows: Risser, first base; Mayes, second base; Still, third base; Palmer, shortstop; McKenzie, left field; Liston, center field; Ledgerwood and Bailey, right field; Bramble, pitcher, Wilson, catcher.
